

New and Improved my-benefits® Site for Plan Administrators!

We are excited to announce that our new and improved my-benefits Plan Administrator site will be available the week of February 4th, 2019! After updating the employee site last year, we've been working hard to bring plan administrators a better online experience.

As with the employee site, a major change you will notice on the site is our web design. Our responsive design includes rich content and easy navigation across multiple platforms. In addition, we've improved the structure of our content, making it easier and quicker to find and use. The new site has the same clean design and graphics as the employee site, and we've added a home screen dashboard, with quick links to the most frequently used portions of the site.

When you log in, on and after February 4th, you will be given the option to go to the new or the existing site for approximately six weeks. This allows you time to explore and familiarize yourself with our new site, while knowing the existing site is still there. Submissions made on either site will be reflected in both during this window. After this period, you will only be able to access the new site.

my-benefits is your site and your opinion is important to us. So, please share your ideas and suggestions with us.
